COLLECTION FOR 03/16/2025
Regular Offertory: $ 13,820.00 Maintenance: $ 3,305.00 Envelopes used this weekend: Regular: 208 Maintenance: 163	Question of the Week: Looking at this Jubilee Year of Hope from God's perspective, what can I do during the week ahead to justify God's hope in me?	"I am who am," God proclaims to Moses from the burning bush. In saying this, God claims to be existence itself—as the one who simply is. Jesus further reveals his Father in the parable we hear in the Gospel: God is prepared to cut down the unfruitful fig tree but is also willing to give it another chance to bear fruit. We sing of this aspect of God in the responsorial psalm: "The Lord is kind and merciful." Let this refrain comfort us as we hear of those who were unexpectedly and tragically struck down.

The Divine Gardener

“For three years now I have come in search of fruit on this fig tree but have found none. So cut it down. Why should it exhaust the soil?’ He said to him in reply, ‘Sir, leave it for this year also, and I shall cultivate the ground around it and fertilize it; it may bear fruit in the future. If not you can cut it down.’” Luke 13:7–9

Imagine for a moment that you were the owner of the orchard in which this fig tree was planted. After the gardener asked you to wait for one more year and promised to fertilize the unfruitful fig tree and cultivate the ground around it, you agreed. Then imagine coming to inspect that same fig tree the next year. Imagine three scenarios. First, what would you do if, once again, there were no figs present? Second, what if there were only a few figs? Third, what if the tree suddenly produced an abundance of good fruit? It seems clear that in the first scenario, if for the fourth year in a row not a single fig was produced, it would be time to cut down the tree. This depicts the justice of God sent forth on those who obstinately resist His grace. In the second scenario, the decision might be more difficult. If the tree produced only a few figs for the first time, then perhaps that would provide enough hope for the future of that tree to ask the gardener to continue caring for it. This depicts those who are in a state of grace but are still lazy in their service of the will of God. In the third scenario, however, the reaction of the owner of the orchard would be clear. There would be much excitement and gratitude that the gardener’s good work paid off. Jesus is the Gardener, and we are the fig tree. This parable should lead us to look at our lives and examine whether or not we bear good fruit for the Kingdom of Heaven. Jesus comes to you to cultivate the soil of your heart, fertilizing it with His holy Word, watering it with His Sacraments and doing all He can to give you the opportunity to produce the fruit of charity in your life. How successful are these actions of our Lord in your life? Too often, when we see only a little good fruit being borne from our lives, we are satisfied. And though any good fruit is good, we are wasting our lives if we do not do all we can to become as abundantly fruitful as possible. Imagine the joy in the Hearts of our Lord and the Father in Heaven if they were to look upon you and see good fruit being produced beyond expectation. Why wouldn’t this be your goal in life? Our Lord is patient, but He is also just. Do not try His patience, and do not succumb to His justice.

Reflect, today, upon the image of you being this fig tree and our Lord as the divine Gardener. Commit yourself to His actions of tilling and fertilizing. You do so by strengthening your commitment to reading and understanding the Word of God, by participating more fully in the Sacraments, by being more focused upon your daily prayer, by examining your conscience more fully, and by sincerely confessing your sins. Do all you can to cooperate with the action of our divine Gardener and you will be amazed at the good fruit that begins to pour forth from your life.

My divine Gardener, You have committed Yourself to the humble work of tilling the soil of my heart and fertilizing it with Your abundant mercy. I choose, this day, to respond to Your grace and pray that my cooperation with You will produce an abundance of good fruit in my life for Your glory and the building up of Your Kingdom. Jesus, I trust in You.

The True Name of God

Readings: Exod 3:1-8a, 13-15; 1 Cor 10:1-6, 10-12; Luke 13:1-9

Scripture: "This is my name... thus am I to be remembered through all generations." (Exod 3:15)

Reflection: As a child, the story of God speaking to Moses through the burning bush captured my imagination. The story itself was fascinating, and the visualization of it in Cecil

B. DeMille's film The Ten Commandments was spectacular. As time went on, my fascination with a non-consuming fire waned and was replaced with increasing interest in what I considered to be the philosophical message of the story. God's name "I AM" —became the riddle to be solved, the mystery that begged to be understood in order to understand who God truly is. But in time I learned that I, like many others, was getting distracted by the wrong part of God's message.

The name of God is not a philosophical enigma. God's name is relationship. It's true that God tells Moses to say that "I AM" sent him, but if we stop there, we miss the bigger reveal. God goes on to say that the one who sends Moses is the God of the Israelites, the God who hears the injustice they experience now, the God who loves them, knows them, is with them, and will be with them as they go forward. I once heard a Scripture scholar say that "I AM" more accurately rendered as "I am the One who will be there with you." And the late Catholic theologian Catherine Mowry LaCugna expressed this divine name as "God for us."

Today's first reading does help us know who God is, but it also reveals how God relates to us: as the one who accompanies us, understands our struggles, and desires only the best for our futures.

Meditation: The true name of God reveals not only who God is but how God acts in the world. God created us to be in relationship with one another, with God, and with all creation. To love as God loves us is to love one another. Where do I need to be more Godlike in my life today?

Prayer: God of love, through your exchange with Moses you reveal that you are all about relationship. Help me to better imitate you by loving others and being present to the people in my life. Just as you are always there for us, give me the strength to be there for others.
